U. S. CONSUL SAYS CYMRIC WAS SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

HE ALSO SAYS FIVE OF THE LINER'S CREW WERE KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

NO AMERICANS WERE ABOARD

Ship Carried No Passengers and was

Of War.

(Associated Press)

The White Star liner Cymric which was reported torpedoed Monday afternoon, sank at 3 o'clock this morning, Lloyd's report that all aboard were saved. The ship carried no passengers and was loaded with war munitions. It is not believed there were any Americans aboard.

Five of Crew Killed.
Consul Frost of Queenstown reports that five of the crew were killed in the explosion and that it appears the attack was made without warning.

First reported information that the five men were killed in the engine room of the Cymric when the torpedo struck. Officials of the White Star line in New York claim to have confirmation, however, that all the crew were saved.

London, May 9.—The White Star liner Cymric, carrying from New York to Liverpool, with a crew of about 100 officers and men, is sinking in the Atlantic, according to authoritative information received here.

German submarines are reported to have marked for sinking the Cymric as well as other British liners which have been carrying munitions from New York to Liverpool.

The Cymric sailed on April 29 from New York for Liverpool.

The Cymric has been in the service of the British government for some time. She had on board no passengers on her last trip.

The Cymric is a steel twin screw steamer built in 1898 at Glasgow and displaces 13,370 tons. She carries three decks and is 585 feet long with a beam of sixty-four feet and a depth of about forty feet. She was registered at the port of Liverpool.

Carried War Munitions.
New York, May 9.—The Cymric when she left New York on April 29 carried a crew of about 200 men, none of whom, so far as is known here by the White Star Line officials, is an American. She was commanded by Captain Beadnell, an Englishman.

According to the line's officials, the Cymric was not armed, they said. She had been due in Liverpool Monday. No word had been received from the line's offices in England that the vessel had met with mishap.

The Cymric's cargo included the usual amount of war supplies which are carried by the line's freighters.

Th manifest of the Cymric discloses that she had on board 101 cases of rifles and other firearms, 290 cases of primers, 11,049 cases of empty shells, 8,900 cases of cartridges, 40 cases of parts of aeroplanes, 400 reels of barbed wire, 81 cases of tractors and parts, 20 cases of gun parts, 6 cases of bayonets, 220 cases of fuse heads and 6,720 cases of fuses.

Ship With Arms for Italy Burns.

New York, May 9.—Fire of mysterious origin gutted the afterhold of the steamship San Giovanni while she was being loaded at her pier in Brooklyn with war supplies for Italy. After an hour's fight the blaze was controlled.

Find Cigar Man's Body.

Chicago, May 9.—The body of Alfred Moos, cousin of J. and B. Moos, founders of the cigar-making firm of that name, was found floating in the lake north of Evanston.

PLAN MEETING FOR VETERANS OF 13TH

INTERESTING SESSION OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS IN DIXON
ON MAY 24TH.

The officers in charge of the arrangements for the annual reunion of the Thirteenth Illinois Infantry association are making arrangements for the affair which will be held here on Wednesday, May 24, and while it is not expected the attendance will be as large as formerly, because of the deaths and increasing infirmities of many of the veterans, it is expected the session will be one of interest. Headquarters during the day will be at the Nachusa Tavern, while the business meetings and camp fires will be in the G. A. R. rooms at the city hall. A banquet will be served to the veterans at the Peoples' church in the evening, followed by the camp fire.

HUBER MAY NEVER BE ABLE TO PITCH AGAIN

ACCIDENT AT ROPER FACTORY
MONDAY AFTERNOON IN-JURED HAND.

Carpenter Huber, Dixon's clever southpaw pitcher, may never pitch another game of baseball as a result of an accident which befell him while at work at the Roper furniture factory Monday afternoon. "Carp" was operating a jointer when his left hand—the one he pitched with—was drawn into the machine. The palm was torn loose and the thumb badly lacerated, the fleshy part of the member being torn away. He was taken at once to the hospital where his injuries were dressed, but it is feared the thumb will be stiff and the palm drawn to such an extent that he will be unable to play ball again.

COUNCIL ABANDONS EAST DIXON PAVING

OPPOSITION TO PAVEMENT ON CRAWFORD AVE. AND OTHER STREETS.

TO INSTALL ANOTHER FOUNTAIN

Broken Drinking Fountain at Peoria and First to Be Replaced—Annual Reports.

Insistent opposition to the proposed brick pavement on Crawford avenue and other streets in the eastern part of Dixon, as provided for in ordinance No. 177, caused the city council at this morning's session to abandon the scheme and instruct the city attorney to procure the vacation of all court orders which have been entered in the proceedings.

The abandonment of the paving scheme was the most important transaction of the city fathers, although several minor matters were disposed of. The annual reports of City Clerk and Collector Blake Grover and City Treasurer Chandler were presented and were referred to the auditors, J. B. Lennon and C. H. Gray.

The council discussed pending damage suits against the city, ordered a new drinking fountain installed at the corner of First street and Peoria avenue, to replace the one broken last fall by a runaway team, and granted the hospital board permission to use the G. A. R. rooms for the annual graduation of nurses from the Katherine Shaw Bethea School for Nurses.

WORRY OVER ABSENCE OF ELKS CARETAKER

JACOB ORTH, NIGHT MAN AT THE CLUB, IS MISSING AND HIS FRIENDS ARE ALARMED

Trustees of the Elks and friends of Jacob Orth, night caretaker of the Elks' building are greatly disturbed because of his disappearance. He has not been seen since early Monday morning, and as he has never before left the city for an over-night visit without making arrangements with the trustees of the lodge for a substitute, they are fearful he has met with misfortune.

He has been troubled with fainting spells recently and for a time it was feared he might have gone fishing, been seized with one of these spells and fallen into the river. However, when investigators entered his room this morning they found his fishing pole there, dispelling that theory. His bed had not been slept in.

Sunday Mr. Orth told friends he thought he would accompany the Dixon lodge delegates to the convention at Decatur, where he has relatives, but the convention does not meet until tomorrow and none of the local delegates have left the city. The trustees are continuing their investigations in the hope of getting trace of the missing man.

COLORED PEOPLE OF DIXON FORM MISSION AND SUNDAY SCHOOL

ORGANIZATION PERFECTED AT A MEETING AT COLEMAN
HOME MONDAY.

OFFICERS HAVE BEEN ELECTED

Organization Is Culmination of Successful Work By Rev. E.
H. Fletcher.

Monday evening a little company of colored people assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Coleman, near the I. C. station, Rev. E. H. Fletcher, who has been making a study of the colored people of the city, was there to advise with them as to the course they should pursue in effecting a religious organization. He stated that he believed there were about forty adult Baptist members and that the Christian constituency among their race would warrant the establishment of a Christian mission and after a time organize a church. With this end in view a committee was appointed to secure a suitable place for a Sunday school and for preaching services.

Officers were elected for both the Mission and Sunday school as follows:

Miss Clara Edwards, secretary of Mission.

Mrs. A. Coleman, treasurer of Mission.

Major Ashford, superintendent of Sunday school.

Miss Bessie Davidson, secretary.

Mrs. Anna Stokes, treasurer.

Miss Minnie Ashford, primary instructor.

Other officers and teachers will be elected as the classes are organized. Rev. Fletcher's mode of procedure in making a religious canvass, visiting among his people, has demonstrated his sound common sense and ability. Forces which have been set in motion will be under his supervision for months to come, because he has consented to supply the pulpit here two Sundays each month.

This is significant at the outset that the Mission will not be organized and then deserted by him. There can be no doubt as to his credentials. He is commissioned by the state board, of which Dr. F. A. McCoo of Chicago is president and Rev. F. H. Gibson of Bloomington is superintendent. And he also has an appointment under Dr. E. P. Brand, secretary of the Baptist State convention. He is considered one of the most successful preachers of the negro race.

Rev. Fletcher has a worthy purpose in mind and it is safe to say that the Christian men and women who constituted the nucleus of the new Mission had little thought of the great good and issues which will go forth from the little meeting at the Coleman home. It is without a doubt, declared a churchman here, the most important event in the history of the colored race in this city. One can scarcely overestimate the tremendous influence of the little organization. In view of the increasing population of the colored race, it is high time for them to have a Mission of their own.

In doing this the Mission lays the foundations of civic loyalty, for religion is the most useful thing for all. There are many other reasons for urging the claims of a Mission, and it should be welcomed by all good people.

ALL MAY HEAR HON. W.J. CALHOUN TALK

MEN'S CLUB OF M. E. CHURCH IN-VITES PUBLIC TO HEAR CHICAGOAN SPEAK.

Because of the great demand on the part of the women of Dixon to be allowed to hear the address that will be delivered by Hon. W. J. Calhoun before the Men's club of the M. E. church this evening, the officers of the club have decided to throw the meeting open to the public, after the banquet, and Mr. Calhoun's address will be delivered in the main auditorium of the church.

The banquet will be held at 7 o'clock in the banquet hall, in the basement. At 8 o'clock the meeting will go up to the main floor of the church and the public will be admitted free. Everyone, especially the ladies, are invited to be at the church at 8 o'clock. Mr. Calhoun is one of the really big American statesmen. He was former Minister to China from the United States.

MOTHER GETS $460 FOR DEATH OF BOY

JUDGMENT RENDERED IN CLARK
VS. DILLON CASE BY AGREEMENT.

GUTHRIE - DREW TRIAL IN ON

By agreement judgment was today rendered in the circuit court for $250 in the case of Daisy Clark vs. George Dillow, suit being brought by Mrs. Clark for recovery of damages for the death of her six year old boy, who was killed when a buggy, in which the little fellow was riding with his eight year old sister, was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant north of West Brooklyn some time ago. The little fellow was thrown out and instantly killed.

Prior to the suit $200 had been paid, and inasmuch as there was some question as to the ability of two children of such tender years to properly drive a horse, settlement was easily effected.

Guthrie-Drew Case On.

This afternoon the case of Mahlon Guthrie vs. W. D. Drew is on trial. In this case Guthrie is suing for $15,000 damages for alleged false arrest. The case is the outgrowth of the humorous law suits which resulted when Mr. Drew locked Constables Dykeman and Guthrie in his office when they went there to collect costs in a suit. At that time the two constables were arrested under city warrants issued on Mr. Drew's complaint, charging them with disturbing the peace, but both constables were acquitted in justice courts.

GUARDSMEN OF TEXAS, ARIZONA, NEW MEXICO WILL GO TO BORDER

ORDERS ARE ISSUED ON RECOMMENDATION OF GENERALS FUNSTON AND SCOTT TO GUARD AGAINST REPETITION OF BIG BEND RAID—HAVE NO SIGNIFICANCE IN CONNECTION WITH SCOTT-OBREGON CONFERENCE—CARRANZA AGREES TO BORDER PROTOCOL.

SAYS RAIDS ARE PLANNED IN UNITED STATES

Mexican Ambassador Tells Secretary Lansing His Government Has Proof Raids Were Organized This Side of the Line To Provoke War Between Two Countries—Two More Being Planned Now, He Said—Funston Will Investigate.

(Associated Press)

President Wilson has called out the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico to deal with the border situation.

"They will report to Gen. Funston, who will assign them to patrol duty along the border," Sec. Baker said. "In addition three regiments of regular infantry from the states of New York and Washington have been directed to proceed to the border and further arrangements will be made for the security of the people against raids." The militia and additional regulars number 7,000.

Carranza Approves Protocol.

Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City has cabled the state department that Carranza has indicated his approval of the tentative protocol which was practically completed by Generals Scott and Obregon.

To Guard Against Raids.

Sec. Baker said Gens. Scott and Funston had recommended sending additional troops to the border to guard against a repetition of the Big Bend raid, and that the sending of the troops was without significance in connection with the Scott-Obregon conference. Further than the statement that Scott was awaiting communication from Obregon, Baker refused to discuss the conference.

Mexico Makes Denial.

After a conference today with Sec. Lansing, the Mexican ambassador said he told the secretary there was not one iota of truth in the report that Obregon had demanded the withdrawal of American troops. "The de facto government," he said, "has official accurate information that the attack at Glen Springs was organized in the United States for the purpose of forcing war between the two countries. I laid the information before Lansing. We have accurate information of two places on the border where raids are now being planned by these interests."

Troops Near Raid Scene.

Marathon, Tex., May 9.—Two troops of the Eighth cavalry and Troop A of the Fourteenth cavalry, the former from El Paso and the latter from Alpine, detained here and plunged in the desert on an eighty-five-mile march to Glenn Springs, the first leg of the chase after the bandits who raided Glen Springs.

Two additional troops of the Fourteenth cavalry from Fort Clark were due to arrive late in the day and start after the main column.

Fear for Americans.

Fears for the safety of American mining men in the Boquillas district were expressed by survivors arriving here from Glenn Springs, raided by Villistas. Two Americans, Carl P. Halter and R. R. Hasbrouck, were stationed at a mine fifteen miles south of the border in the path reported taken by the raiders. Nothing has been heard from W. T. Butler, L. Coy and Frank Rowan, American mining men, near Boquillas.

The report from Washington that the bodies of Deemer and Coy, captured by the raiders, had been found with their throats cut added to the fears felt for the Americans mentioned.

Four Americans Missing.

Four Americans are missing from Glenn Springs in addition to those reported missing in earlier accounts. It was learned. They are Thomas and Edward Roberts of San Antonio, J. E. Roberts of El Paso and J. W. Cowan of San Antonio.

Rescue parties left here to search for them. The men were employed by the Candellia Wax company of Glenn Springs.

Marathon to Be Base.

This place, which is on the Southern Pacific railway, almost 100 miles north of the international line, will be the base of operations. General Funston announced. From here a field telegraph line will be run to the advanced base.

TORONTO.

Toronto is a Canadian city with a population which assays about Yankee habits and a British accent, 200 golf caps to the thousand. It is located just across Lake Ontario uses American trains, American locomotives, American toothbrushes and American toothpaste, and is an exceedingly handy neighbor from American tourists in large quantities, whom to borrow eggs and butter and but adheres to British clothes, and things of a morning if it loved us and sings "God Save the King" at the end could be induced to take down its of every baseball game—for loyal as spite fence.

The entire population of Toronto seem to work down cricket as a national pastime.

Toronto prides itself upon its clean streets, fine buildings and its colleges. There are six colleges and universities in Toronto, and the young student can take his choice of fourteen styles of architecture and several American Greek Letter Fraternities. Toronto is Canadian with a big loud "C," and its newspapers breathe forth such undying hostility to Uncle Sam that it is a wonder we can sleep nights on this side of the lake. They firmly expect to see Canada annex this country before the middle of the century and are trying to make a start in the process by annexing the pennant of the International Baseball League. Toronto is a lively city for six days in the week but like all Canadian cities it expires at midnight on Saturday and remains a pallid corpse until Monday morning, every corner instead of a drug store.

Toronto can be distinguished at a first glance from an American city by its polite policemen, postage stamps, and the flags over its public buildings. It has ornamental street lights, a booster organization, real newspapers, actual packing houses, and almost-skyscrapers. But it also has un-American features, including a good city government, a branch bank on every corner instead of a drug store.

FRENCH WIN BACK THEIR LOST LINES

Paris Announces Recapture of Trenches at Hill 304.

London, May 9.—The battle for Verdun, both east and west of the Meuse, in which the Germans struck a staggering blow at the French, has again shifted in favor of the latter. Furious counterattacks drove the Germans from their newly won positions between Hill 304 and Dead Man and recovered for the French the lost ground south of Haudremont, north of Verdun.

This report from Paris, however, is not substantiated by the Berlin official statement, which indicates that the great new German offensive is generally successful, but the German statements are issued a day later than those of Paris, and the offensive referred to by Berlin was admitted in the French statement of the day before. Berlin claims an advance to the summit of Hill 304 and the capture of 1,320 officers and men, with the repulse of violent French attacks and the capture of 300 more east of the river. Berlin estimates that 600,000 freshmen are now employed at Verdun in opposing 300,000 Germans.

GRANDMOTHER'S MEDICINES

Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—wormwood, horoughwort, sage, rue, camomile—he list might go on and on of the healing plants with which they made is familiar.

Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The newly elected vestry of St. Luke's Episcopal church will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the rectory for organization.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

Country Club Entertainment

Dixon talent, including Miss Eleanor Coppins, pianist, and Miss Alice Coppins, violinist; Miss Beatrice Howell, interpretative dancer; Mrs. E. A. Sickles, soprano soloist, and Miss Myrtle Rice, pianist, will appear upon the program to be given Friday night at Princeton at the Bureau County Country Club. The following is the program as taken from the Bureau County Republican:

Elaborate preparations are being made for the musicale to be given Friday evening, May 12, at the committee has secured a group of six entertainers from Dixon and Chicago, who will furnish the program. The artists engaged for the occasion are Miss Eleanor Coppins, pianist; Mrs. E. A. Sickles, vocalist; Miss Alice Marie Coppins, violinist; Miss Beatrice Howell, interpretative dancer; Miss Myrtle Rice, accompanist; and Mr. Oliver Wellum, soloist. At 6:30 o'clock dinner will precede the program.

The arrangements for the evening program are in charge of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boyden, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Boyden, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sabin, Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Schröder, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brigham, Dr. T. J. Boner, G. P. Thompson and Ross Moore.

The golf committee has also arranged a contest to take place in the afternoon between the lawyers on the one side and the doctors, dentists, insurance men and court house bunch on the other. The losing side will be expected to set up the dinner to their opponents.

The program for the musicale as announced by Mr. Clark is as follows:

Sonata Op 7 (Grieg) Alla Minuetto ma poco più lento Finale, Moll Allegro; Miss Eleanor Coppins.
Morning (Korsteiner); Mrs. E. A. Sickles.

(1) Cavatina (Raff); (2) "Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star!" (Wagner); Miss Alice Marie Coppins.

(1) Anita's Dance (Grieg) from "Peer Gynt"; (2) Marche Slav (Tschakowsky); Miss Beatrice Howell. Miss Myrtle Rice, (accompanist).

Who Owns the Schoolhouse

A matter of much interest to the public as it deals with the making of school houses into centers for community clubs, was introduced by Mrs. R. B. Ennis of Evanston, one of the three women members of the Evanston school board, who spoke before the Woman's Club at Miller Hall Saturday afternoon. The subject, "Who Owns the Schoolhouse?" was discussed.

Mrs. Ennis, in a few words, answered the question, declaring that of course there could be no dispute on the ownership, inasmuch as taxes upon it are paid by the people, and said she had yet to meet that refractory board of school trustees that would not admit that ownership and the advisability of allowing the people to use it as they saw fit, as long as the demands made were not beyond educational benefits to the community. Mrs. Ennis said that the questions lay in what was educational, the limits of responsibility of the school board, and what was appropriate. She spoke of the need of training the youth of the land to uphold the democratic form of government, saying that democracy was on trial here and there was no other place than the public school where democratic ideals could be taught. The school system of the day has this in view and all sort of instruction has been introduced with the idea of making well-rounded men and women, but she said, in order to keep ahead of wrong influences of alley and street, it is necessary that the school house be used every hour in the day, not only during the regular hours, but in the evening as well. The school, she said, was the natural center of civic life and should be used as such.

Mrs. Ennis told of the service obtained from the Evanston school houses, which are open from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. nearly every day in the year. The youth of Evanston have provided for their amusement super-evil influences of the commercialized amusements are combatted. Many and varied are the forms of entertainment and extra educational courses for which the school is the gathering place in the evening. There they have, too, the supervised playground. The talk was highly entertaining and instructive, showing what could be done to occupy every minute of a child's life with what is pure and helpful.

The program closed with an instrumental solo, "Alice" (Ascher) by Miss Helen Corbin. Medea Lord, and Mrs. E. H. English served refreshments during the social hour. The program was mainly devoted to drawing Mrs. Ennis into conversations about the topic and in discussing the problems the Woman's club has to solve before Dixon is ready to place its school houses more fully into the hands of the people for their good. The club hopes to make the matter of supervised playgrounds, at least, this summer, an assured fact.

To Grand Detour

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roe and three children motored to Grand Detour Sunday, dining at the Sheffield.

Surprise Miss Floto

A group of Dixon young ladies, including Miss Ada Brink, Miss Lina Miller, Miss Maude Gitt, Miss Tomina Hyland, Miss Florence Watts, Miss Florence Fallstrom, and Miss Anna Jensen, together with a number of young ladies of the Kingdom carried out last evening a long planned surprise on Miss Ora Floto of the Kingdom. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed, the hostess enjoying the surprise not a whit less than the guests.

Shoemakers' Dance

The Shoemakers' dance at Rosbrook's hall Saturday evening was attended by the largest crowd that has marked any of their parties and as a result the affair exceeded in enjoyment any of the previous very happy ones. The Marquette orchestra furnished the music. The club will give another dance this evening.

Guests at Sheffield

Among the guests Sunday at the Sheffield were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ford and J. B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. E. Reuland, Miss Gallord of Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. Powell of Polo, Mrs. Ed. Miller and Mrs. Abram Supple of Polo, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Berry and wife of Amboy, Miss M. For Mrs. Elizabeth James

Mrs. D. A. James entertained twenty-five guests Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth James' birthday. During the afternoon music was rendered by Misses Ethel and Helen Gorham, Mrs. Walter Hoberg, Miss Bessie Depny and Mrs. Raymond Wendell, and Mesdames John Hutton and Frank Orliesen entertained with an old-fashioned dance. At 5 o'clock a four-course supper was served, the table decorations being in pink and white. Among the many presents received by the guest of honor was a $5 gold piece, the remembrance of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. James and David, Jr.

Wilmet-Neil

Edward Wilmet, or Edward Leaox, as he is better known, the son of Mrs. Fred Lexox, and Miss Mary Neil of Sterling were united in marriage Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the parsonage of the First Methodist church of Sterling, the pastor, Rev. A. W. Otis, performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmet left that evening on a honeymoon trip to Cedar Rapids. The groom has many relatives and friends in and about Dixon who extend congratulations.

Guests at Castle Home

Mrs. Alice Peckens of La Salle and Mrs. Thomas English of Dimick, Ill., spent the week-end as guests at the home of their brother, Joseph Castle, and his daughter, Miss Gertrude. Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Murphy and children of Rock Falls were also guests at the Castle home.

For Eighth Birthday

The birthday of little Miss Dorothy Hoover, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Hoover of east of Dixon, was made the occasion of a delightful afternoon for eight other little girls, Alice Henry, Maurine Miller, Alice Hogan, Ruth Heckman, Erma Stevens, Marjory Greer, Cecile Boese, Dorothy Grigsby, the latter of Dixon. Such a time as they had during the afternoon in riding Dorothy's pony and hunting for wild flowers in the grove until lunch was served by Mrs. Hoover. Everything was as dainty as child's heart could crave. The decorations were in pink and white and place cards tied with pink ribbons designated the places. Nut baskets were faced with pink ribbon and the ice cream and candies were pink. The birthday cake, too, with its eight candles was a very attractive feature. A number of pretty gifts from her little friends fell to the lot of Miss Dorothy. The only shadow of the afternoon was the illness of little Lucile Wolfe, causing her to miss the happy afternoon.

Guests at Young Home

Mrs. Eastman and Mrs. Hill were guests at dinner Sunday of Supervisor and Mrs. Frank Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Casper Krug motored to Ashton Saturday morning and were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Clifford Luckey.

Entertained Dixon Club

Sterling Gazette: The Eastern Star Thimble club entertained the O. F. S. Thimble club of Dixon Friday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 in the chapter rooms at a spring party. About thirty Dixon ladies enjoyed the hospitality of the local ladies, and they made the trip to and from Dixon in automobiles.

The following program was rendered in the early part of the afternoon: Reading, Mrs. L. L. Emmons Solo, Mrs. H. F. Daggett. Reading, Miss Howell. The main feature of the afternoon was a spring fashion parade, the ladies making their own hats out of tissue paper. Mrs. Ebinger of Dixon won the first prize, her hat being a sun bonnet.

At the close of the afternoon the guests were invited into the dining room, which was tastefully decorated with violets, where a two course lunch was served. The tables were decorated with small baskets of violets and favors were nosegays of violets. Mrs. L. P. Jensen acted as toastmistress, and several Dixon ladies responded. All present report a pleasant time and the local Thimble club were voted as royal entertainers.

The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. John Thompson and Mrs. L. E. Rife, and the reception committee consisted of Mrs. William Hartshorn, Mrs. Francis Andrews and Mrs. William McNeill.

Motor Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fordham, Mrs. Eliza Fordham, and Mrs. Ella Cole formed a party motoring to Grand Detour Sunday where they dined.

D. A. R. Meeting

The Daughters of the America Revolution met on Saturday, May 6th, at the beautiful home of Mrs. A. H. Tillson in North Dixon. The regent and vice regent, being absent, Mrs. Law occupied the chair and Mrs. S. S. Dodge acted as secretary pro tem. After the usual opening exercises the annual reports of the regent, registrar, secretary, and treasurer ere given, also that of the custodian of the Sunshine fund.

It was noted from the reports that a goodly number of new members had been received by the chapter during the year.

Mrs. Law followed the reports reading some selections telling of the Continental Congress which recently occurred.

The Local Board of Managers consists of three members from the floor. Mrs. Hattie T. Dodge, Mrs. Mabel P. Drew, and Mrs. Anna W. Barlow were elected to serve in that capacity.

The site of the "Old Block House" has been bought since the last regular meeting and the daughters were urged to make every effort to secure the necessary funds to complete the purchase. The saving of magazines, papers of all kinds, and paper rags, was emphasized.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary unsalted coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonsful will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifold coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Keyes Ahrens Ogden Co.
Of Course!

After some discussion with regard to the subject to be studied the coming year, it was decided to have a miscellaneous program. It promises to be exceedingly interesting. The membership of the D. A. R. organization numbers about 92,000, she said. There are 72 real daughters in the United States. The election of officers followed.

The result of the election stands as follows:

Regent, Miss Jennie Laing.
Vice Regent, Mrs. M. Dysart.
Recording Secretary, Miss Laura G. Murphy.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Sarah W. Hitchcock.

Registrar, Miss Estella Osborn.
Treasurer, Mrs. Bertha H. McVethy.

Historian, Miss Anna E. Pratt.
Custodian of Sunshine Fund, Mrs. Elizabeth F. Thompson.

The chapter adjourned its business session and a pleasant social hour ensued. Most tempting refreshments were served by Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Howell, and her daughters. The social hour's enjoyment was greatly enhanced by some fancy dancing by the Misses Howell.

Waffle Supper

The Snadhi Club will be the guests Thursday afternoon of Mrs. Theodore Wilson at her Assembly Park cottage, Nancassaddle Lodge. A waffle supper to be served at five will furnish the agreeable closing of the afternoon.

With Mrs. Shawger

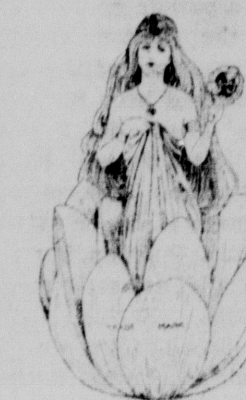

Mrs. M. W. Rowe's Sunday School class of the Methodist church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Shawger of the Smith farm in Palmyra. Parties will leave Dixon on the one and two o'clock interurbans.

Missionary Memorial Service

The Memorial meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Ebinger, 213 S. Ottawa Ave., Thursday at 2:30 P. M., with Mrs. Ebinger, Miss Geis, and Mrs. F. D. Altman, Mrs. I. P. Burhenn, Mrs. A. J. Chronister and Mrs. Coakley as hostesses. All members and friends are cordially invited.

ROCHELLE BOOSTS FOR THE COLONEL.
The Rochelle Independent, of the neighboring city of Rochelle, shows the right spirit in the following editorial:
As our readers will notice by an announcement in another column, Col. Lowden is now a full fledged candidate for governor. The announcement of Ogle county's distinguished citizen is characteristic of the man. All who have become acquainted with Col. Lowden know him to be a sincere, able, clean and thoroughly reliable gentleman. He never has been identified with any faction or political clique, and his letter demonstrates that he is not going to make a bid for this kind of support. He desires to secure his nomination and election from the people as a whole, regardless of pet theories or faction; and, if chosen to the high position he will be a real governor for the entire state.
Col. Lowden is familiar with the needs of the state, and no one will ever feel like apologizing for supporting him. As a lawyer, he is considered one of the best. His business ability is unquestioned, and, as one of the largest real estate owners of Ogle county, he is thoroughly familiar with farm life and the complex problems of the agriculturist.
He will have but little opposition, if any, in this section of the state, and from reports from other portions of our commonwealth, it looks as if his candidacy will meet with approval throughout Illinois.
Again, we say, let's make it unanimous!

LOWDEN TO OPEN HIS CAMPAIGN.
Colonel Frank O. Lowden will deliver his first speech in his campaign for the republican nomination for governor at Ottawa next Friday. The meeting will be held in Company A Armory at eight o'clock in the evening.
Arrangements are being made for a great gathering of republicans. La Salle county is the home of W. H. Stead, attorney general for eight years, who is managing Colonel Lowden's campaign. Besides it is a neighboring county to Ogle, where Colonel Lowden lives.
As the Ottawa meeting will be the first since the formal announcement of Colonel Lowden's candidacy for governor, it is expected to be of statewide interest. It is anticipated that Colonel Lowden will discuss state issues and make known his position on a number of public questions that are now receiving the thoughtful attention of the people.

A GREAT PAVING SYSTEM.
When all the paving projects now under way in Dixon and vicinity are completed no city this size in the middle west can boast of better boulevards than Dixon. The many miles of brick and concrete paving that the township affords will be a surprise and a delight to visitors as well as a great pleasure for our own people and such an indication of progressiveness and prosperity will not be a lost investment by any means.

Members of the country club are getting enthusiastic and it is very difficult not to allow business to interfere with one's pleasure. The temporary links at the club are being used by more golfers every day.

Those Irish rebels should be brought over to the Mexican border if they want to let off steam. They could cut an awful swath down through the Mexican republic if they could be turned loose there.

Nature is responding magnificently to the warm rays of the sun and these last few beautiful spring days have worked wonders with the foliage.

New Orleans - Romantic City

By Mrs. C. H. McKenney
At the corner of Royal and St. Louis Streets, stood, until March, 1916, the old St. Louis hotel, a place I wish you could have visited, for it was worth your time. When I left New Orleans it was almost completely demolished, but when I visited the place 8 years ago it was most interesting. Could you have been with me you would have seen a four story building occupying a full block on St. Louis street with a fine entrance on that street and another on Royal. Built in 1841, it stood as a monument to the wealth, elegance, and prosperity of those days. The hotel has entertained many of the most noted men of the country during its best day, and was the resort of the wealthiest planters and largest slave holders in the South. The lower part of the renowned rotunda was frequently used by the negro slave traders as an auction mart and the old auction block, which was placed between two pillars, was pointed out to one. This winter when I asked the proprietor of one of the curio stores what would be done with the old slave block; he laughed and said, "O, that was whittled away long ago for souvenirs by tourists, and one or two more besides."
From the site of the St. Louis hotel we go down to Jackson square, a place of winding paths, beautiful flowers and fine shrubbery, with seats that invite the tired sight-seer to sit down and rest. This we will not be slow to do, and while seated and listening to the birds, let us look at the surroundings of the square and reflect upon its early history and of some of the events of which it has been a silent witness and sometimes a participant. It was formerly known as the Place d'Armo. In it is commemorated nearly every incident in the Colonial history of Louisiana. Here landed the Ursuline nuns in 1727, here landed the "casket girls." Here from 1729 to 1739 rallied those gatherings of regulars and volunteer troops who carried on the wars against the Natchez, and Chickasaw Indians. It was habitually used by the French and Spanish as a parade ground. The monument in the center of the square, taking the place of the flag-staff from which had been unfurled successfully the flags of France, Spain and the United States is of Jackson, and the name Jackson was given to the square in honor of the hero of Chalmette. Surrounding the square on three sides are some memorable buildings. Facing the square toward the river we see in the center the old St. Louis Cathedral, flanked on either side by a notable building. On the south is the Cabildo and on the north the companion building called the Presbytery. On the east and west are two long rows of three story brick dwellings built in 1849. They were regarded at one time as among the most desirable residences of New Orleans but have long since fallen from their high estates. In the beautiful wrought iron railings of the balconies may be seen the monograms of the former owners.

If the sun seems a little too hot for us here in the square, let us enter the ancient Cathedral which was built by a wealthy Spaniard at his own expense ($50,000) and occupies the site of the first church ever erected in the great expanse known as the Louisiana purchase. The cathedral was built in 1792 and finished in 1794, and given to the city, and all that the pious founder asked for his generous gift was, that forever after on every Saturday afternoon Mass might be said in the new church for the repose of his soul. This desire has been scrupulously observed down to the present day. The church is built in the Spanish style with round towers, one at either extremity of the facade. On the towers bell-shaped turrets were erected in 1814 and a belfry was added in 1824 which brought the structure to its present form. Notice the reproduction of the famous Grotto of Lourdes which forms one side of altars. The water which trickles perpetually over the rock is supplied from the miraculous shrine at Lourdes, so they say.

Everybody Had to Do Just as She Wished.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Old Elf King's Daughters Dance At the Party.

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

DADDY sat down with the children and soon as they were quiet told them: "The old elf king's daughters danced for his guests, and they danced so fast that some of the folks at the banquet got dizzy and had to leave the table."
"P-r-r-r!" said the old Trolld chieftain, who had come from Norway with his two sons to enjoy the party. "There is some life in those feet and legs! But what else can they do besides dancing and pointing toes and doing whirling-gigs?"
"We will soon show you!" cried the old elf king. And he called his youngest daughter to him.
"She was as thin and transparent as moonshine. She was the most like a ghost of all the daughters. She came forth from the dance and bowed. Then she put a little white stick in her mouth and vanished instantly. This was her accomplishment."
"I wouldn't like my wife to do that!" cried the old Trolld. "And I don't think my sons would appreciate it."
"The second daughter now came forth. She could walk by her own side just as if she had a shadow, and no elves have shadows. The third was quite different. She had studied in the marsh witches' brewery and understood larding alder stumps with glowworms."
"She would make a good housewife," said the old Trolld. He saluted her with his eyes, for he was afraid if he drank her health he might drink too much.
"Now came forth the next daughter. She had a big golden horn to play, and when she touched the first string all the elves lifted up their left legs, for all elf folk are left legged, you know. And when she touched the second string everybody had to do just what she wished."
"She is a dangerous woman!" cried the old Trolld. But both his sons left the elf hill, for they were tired of the party.
"What can your next daughter do?" the old Trolld asked the elf king.
"I have learned to love the people from Norway," she whispered. "And I shall never marry unless I can go there to live."
"The smallest of the sisters flew over to the old Trolld and whispered in his huge ear: 'That is only because she once heard a song which said that when the world comes to an end the rocks of Norway will still stand. She wants to go there so she won't perish.'" thedral was built in 1792 and finished in 1794, and given to the city, and all that the pious founder asked for his generous gift was, that forever after on every Saturday afternoon Mass might be said in the new church for the repose of his soul. This desire has been scrupulously observed down to the present day. The church is built in the Spanish style with round towers, one at either extremity of the facade. On the towers bell-shaped turrets were erected in 1814 and a belfry was added in 1824 which brought the structure to its present form. Notice the reproduction of the famous Grotto of Lourdes which forms one side of altars. The water which trickles perpetually over the rock is supplied from the miraculous shrine at Lourdes, so they say.

From the Cathedral to the Cabildo is the next step. The site of the Cabildo was originally occupied by a small guardhouse and prison. The present structure was erected in 1795. It is built with an arcade across the front and the interior has undergone very little change. The room in which the abildo used to meet, retains its original appearance save for two pillars added to support the ceiling. The ceremonies connected with the transfer of Louisiana from Spain to France and from France to the United States took place in this room, and the centennial of the Louisiana Purchase was appropriately celebrated in this room. It would take too much time and too much of your patience to remain long enough in this building to familiarize ourselves with all its wonderful happenings. The Louisiana State Museum now occupies most of the building and I wish we could remain to look over all the relics.

You have all heard of the French Market, but to see it in all its glory of business activity, we would have to make it a visit very early in the morning, and although it is within a block of Jackson square, we will pass it by, but let me tell you this in passing. It was erected in 1813 and stands on the exact spot where the first market was built in New Orleans. It is divided into four parts, —the fish, meat, vegetable, and fruit markets. Under its roof every language is spoken.

Our trip to the French part of the city would not be complete should we miss visiting the old St. Louis cemeteries, for you find nothing like them in the United States. As you know, interment cannot very well be made in the ground because of the water, and the dead are placed in tombs by the wealthier class, and in ovens, as they are called, by those who cannot afford a tomb. These ovens are generally a part of the wall which surrounds the cemetery, and are small inclosures about the size of a coffin, made of brick. After the coffin is in place the end of the oven is bricked up and a marble slab is placed in the opening bearing the usual inscription as placed on a tomb or marker. In all the cemeteries, both old and new, you will find these walls surrounding the enclosure, and also small sections of the wall are found at different places throughout the cemetery. The old St. Louis cemetery dates back to 1800. On some of the old tombs you will find inscribed, "Died on the field of honor," which means that the life was taken in a duel, for duels were very often fought in those days, not only by the French and Spanish, but by the peppy Americans as well.

Although I know you are very weary of sight-seeing, (Yes, and of hearing about it, too) I would feel that as a condescendence I was a failure if I allowed you to return to Canal street without a visit to the Arch-Bishopal Palace, as it is called, for this is the oldest building in the Mississippi valley and survives in almost a perfect state of preservation. Its construction was begun in 1727 as a convent for the Ursuline nuns, where they resided until 1824 when they moved to the extreme tower part of the city, which formed their home until about five years ago when they again moved because of the encroachment of the water, this time to the New Ursuline Convent, which is away up town and is one of the most complete and well-appointed institutions it was ever my fortune to visit.

Before leaving this old French section may I just say a word about the Creoles of New Orleans. Creole, according to Webster, signifies one of European parentage born in Louisiana or the West Indies, but it more properly means the Latin race. In Louisiana, "Creole" has much the same meaning that "Knickerbocker" has in New York. One hears "Creole" term, Creole negroes, but it is a nice distinction, meaning only the blacks and colored people that are Louisiana bred and born and French speaking as distinguished from the negroes of other states. Creole means white, although as has been seen, it has been given many shades of meaning, shades which have been taken up by the ignorant scribblers and gradually accepted by northerners as meaning Louisianians of mixed blood. Nothing is more erroneous. There never was a nobler or more pure blooded race than the creoles of Louisiana who are proud of their descent from the best families of France and Spain. It is very difficult for the stranger to gain access to the ancient Creole homes. We must have letters of introduction or be introduced by a native to the manner born. And she, as F. Marion Crawford said when he visited New Orleans, "You will find in little old French houses that must have been built in the last century with their long hallway opening on queer little courtyards and all suggesting another age and civilization—a people, the most charming and cultured, with all the grace of manner and dignity and the equal in birth and bearing of the most distinguished in European circles."

HICKORY DICKORY DOCK, SNAKE GETS INTO CLOCK

Query, Did Reptile Shed Skin There, or Should Blame be Laid on Rats?

Pittsburg, Pa.—The Perryville public schoolhouse in Ross township, near the Highland Presbyterian church, made famous by the notorious Biddie boys and Mrs. Kate Seffel spending a night there after having escaped from the Allegheny County jail, has come to the front again with a sensation that is sending thrills up and down the spinal columns of the pupils of that district and causing even older folk of the neighborhood to give the place of learning a wide berth after nightfall.

The schoolhouse clock creates the sensation this time. It is an eight day time piece which ran all right until a few days ago when it stopped and refused to give forth even the faintest tick. (That is characteristic of clocks that stop.) Whereupon the directors of the district, aware of the aforesaid characteristic, sent it to August Lock, a Northside jeweler, for repairs.

The moment a workman at the store took off the face of the clock the reason it refused to chronicle the time was evident. Intervened among the wheels and springs of the time piece was the hide of a snake nearly a yard in length. Also a lot of litter resembling a rat's nest.

The glass in front of the pendulum of the clock had been broken for some time, and it is supposed that rats may have made a nest in the works of the time piece. But the mystery is: How did the hide of a large snake find its way there? The hide resembles that of a garter snake, and the query is: Did a snake make its home in the clock, devour the rats and leave its hide there at shedding time, or did a rat carry the hide or a live snake into the clock which the rat had appropriated for its domicile?

COTTON BALE 36 YEARS OLD

Price Was So Low Owner's Father Would Not Haul it to Market
Laurel, Miss.—E. T. Wilburn, a farmer living near the county line, has a bale of cotton grown 36 years ago, which he believes to be the oldest in the county.

The cotton was grown by Milburn's father, prior to the building of the New Orleans & Northwestern Railroad and in the days when it was necessary to haul it over poor roads to either Shubuta or Enterprise to find a market. Prices were low that year and for several years afterward, and the senior Wilburn stored it in his barn. Six years ago he died, and the son, having become attached to the bale decided to retain it indefinitely.

Miss Nell Suggitt visited Sunday with friends in DeKalb.

Dramatic Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the Princess Theatre will show a variety of pictures including a Thanhouser feature entitled "The Whispered Word," with Wayne Arey and Grace De Carlton in the leading roles, a story of mystery and romance which leads to a love romance by two young people. The other pictures are a Vogue comedy entitled "More Truth Than Poetry" with Jack Dillon and Priscilla Dean in leading roles, a comedy drama with plenty of pepper, "The Twin Trunk Mystery," a Cub comedy, is also on the bill with Billie Armstrong in the leading role — a lively farce. The last reel is a Beauty comedy entitled "Dad's College Widow," with Orrol Humphrey in the leading role. Tomorrow night a Mutual Master picture de luxe will be shown entitled "According to Law," featuring the noted screen star, Mildred Gregory.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Woman's Club Recital

On Wednesday evening, May 19th, at the Methodist church Professor Max L. Swarthout, violinist, and Donald M. Swarthout, pianist, of the musical conservatory of the James Milliken University will appear in recital under the auspices of the Dixon Woman's Club. The hour is 8:15. They come without charge at the invitation of their mother, Mrs. Swarthout, a member of the club and consequently the club is allowing the public the benefit and asks no admission fee. Upon their return a number of years ago from Germany, where they completed their musical studies, these gentlemen appeared here and delighted all who heard them. The program which they are to render follows:

Violin and Piano: Grieg, Sonata in G major, Lento doloroso, Allegro vivace, Allegretto tranquillo, Allegro animato.
Piano: Saint-Saens, "Chanson Napolitaine."
Grieg, "Ich Liebe Dich" (Transcription).
Brahms, Ballade in G. Minor.
Strauss-Schuetz, "Fledermaus Waltzes."

Violin: Wieniawski, "Capriccio Valse;" Moszkowski, "Serenata;" Ries, "Perpetual Motion."

Violin and Piano: Cyril Scott, Tallahassee Suite; "Bygone Memories," "After Sundown," "Air et Danse Negro."

The Daughters of the Covenant of the Presbyterian church will meet this evening with Miss Lillian Morris, 703 E. Fellows street.

Hoi Polloi Club

The members of the Hoi Polloi club will meet this evening with Miss Dolly Pauth.

Pleased Paducah Audience

That "The Wishing Ring," the musical fantasia to be presented here under the auspices of the Rebekah Lodge, has been a great success in other towns, is testified to by the following clipping taken from the Paducah (Ky.) News-Democrat.

The initial performance of "The Wishing Ring," as presented last evening at the Kentucky theater under the auspices of the Washington School Improvement League, was a complete success, both from a theatrical and financial standpoint. A crowded house greeted the curtain rise, while the society folk who participated in the delightful play far exceeded the hopes of the director. From an artistic standpoint the performance was one of the best ever produced in the city, the costumes, the scenery, the staging and the acting all being far above the usual amateur standard. The big audience left the theater enthusiastically over the manner in which the leading characters, those of lesser importance and the choruses presented their respective parts.

Eldena Social

The K. L. C. E. of Eldena will hold an ice cream and cake social at Gleason hall, Thursday evening, to which everyone is invited.

Mite Society

The Mite Society of the St. Paul's Lutheran church will give this evening with Mrs. Mary Meyer, 621 Calena Avenue. An Edison Disc phonograph will be used to furnish music during the evening.

Eldena Missionary

The Eldena Woman's Missionary Society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

W. R. C. Meeting

The Woman's Relief Corps held a well attended business meeting yesterday. The delegates to the state convention at Decatur, Mrs. Hattie Weisz, Mrs. Katherine Greig, Mrs. Jessie Brown, and Mrs. Albertina McKenney, received their credential at this session and plans were made for banqueting the "Old Thirteenth" when it meets for its annual reunion in Dixon the 24th of May. The banquet will be held at the People's church.

Queen Esther's Meeting

Miss Olive Kerz pleasantly entertained the members of the Queen Esther's society to the number of forty at her home last evening. Harry Graff had charge of the vocalists and Miss Ethel Leake the study chapter. A very enjoyable musical program was also enjoyed. Misses Josephine Lievan and Lois Keyes, accompanied by Miss Anna Keyes on the violin rendered a vocal duet. Miss Edna Hanne a piano solo and Miss Marjorie Slothower a vocal solo. Tempting refreshments in the shape of ice cream and waters were served by the hostess. During the social hour music was enjoyed, with a number of solos, presented informally by Miss Marjorie Slothower, and several Victrola numbers.

With Chicago Friends

Miss Lucile Jones will go to Chicago tomorrow to be the guest of Misses Margaret Lynch and Kathleen O'Connor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kahler and only daughter went to Grand Detour today to take up their residence in their bungalow on the river shore for the summer.

WILSON DEFENDS BRANDEIS

President Sharply Criticizes Opposition to High Court Nominee.

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson's letter giving his reasons for nominating Louis D. Brandeis for the supreme court and urging confirmation was read to the senate judiciary committee by Chairman Culberson, but no vote was taken as had been expected and no time was fixed for one.

President Wilson characterized the charges against his nominee as "intrinsically incredible to any one who really knows Mr. Brandeis," and said that they "proceeded for the most part from those who hated Mr. Brandeis because he had refused to be serviceable to them in promotion of their own selfish interests, and from those whom they had prejudiced and misled." The president added that the "propaganda in this matter has been very extraordinary and very distressing to those who love fairness and value the dignity of the great professions."

ROBBERS' VICTIM MAY DIE

Two Aged Sisters of Decatur May Not Survive Shock.

Decatur, May 9.—Fear of death at the hands of two bandits kept Mrs. Amanda Creech and Miss Eliza Evans, sisters, each about eighty years of age, residing near Bethany, from telling any one that they had been robbed.

Two fashionably dressed strangers appeared at their home and demanded money. Told that no money was kept in the house, one of the men stood guard over one sister, while the other accompanied the other sister to the bank, where she drew out $60 and gave it to him. The men escaped in an automobile. The shock may prove fatal to both women.

SENTENCE 4 MORE RIOTERS

Redmond Says Irish Are Becoming Embittered Over Executions.

London, May 9.—Four more of the leaders in the Irish revolt have been sentenced to death by the Dublin court-martial and executed, according to an official statement issued. They were Cornelius Colbert, Edmund Kent, Michael Mallon and J. J. Henston.

London, May 9.—John Redmond, the Irish leader, put a question to Premier Asquith in the houses of commons in which he suggested that the continuance of military executions in Ireland was causing rapidly increasing bitterness and exasperation among a section of the populace which had no sympathy with the insurrection.

GIRL WORKED IN MINE AS A MAN

DONNED REGULAR ATTIRE OF AN ITALIAN LABORER AND NOT SUSPECTED

DID MORE THAN A MAN'S WORK

Now Employed as a Domestic in Pittsburgh and Happy in Her New Life.

Dubois, Pa.—Each morning at 7 o'clock for three years a youthful coal digger went down into the mines at Flyer, Clearfield County, clad in overalls, a blue shirt and miner's cap and lamp. Throughout the day, until it came quitting time at 4 o'clock this young miner labored hard with pick and shovel, doing more than the average man's work.

The young miner was known as "Joe Ricatone," from sunny Italy. Bright and happy of face and disposition, always ready to engage in a frolic or in a fistfight if occasion demanded, "Joe" won a place in the hearts of the other miners, and was not only regarded as a good fellow, but a friend whom they trusted and admired.

Clean cut and handsome, broad of shoulder, deep of chest, powerful yet graceful, and with a voice of deep Italian sweetness, "Joe" was a figure of interest in the little mining town.

Rather suddenly, one day recently, "Joe" decided to give up the mining life and try something else. There were brothers to be consulted, and after a family council it was decided that "Joe" should don a woman's wig and feminine attire and go to Pittsburgh to find some other kind of employment.

For "Joe" is a girl. She is a beautiful girl too. She had come to America to win her fortune, and the lure of $2.50 a day in the mines was too strong for an ambitious girl of her physique. To carry out her plans, she donned the regulation attire of the Italian laborer and applied at the mines for work. She got it readily enough, and during the three years in the mines she did the regular work required of the men by her side, and at no time was her sex suspected.

During her leisure hours "Joe" loafed with the men and was a regular patron at the local saloon, where she drank her glass of beer across the bar, smoked cigarettes with the ease of long practice and chatted, laughed and made herself generally agreeable. "Joe" was regarded as a "regular fellow," and that she was not a boy was farthest from everyone's thoughts.

"Joe's" peculiar position led to many situations in which she was often obliged to use her ingenious tact, and sometimes she became the victim of a humorous circumstance. Once she is said to have become the guest for a few nights of a woman who was possessed of only one bed.

"Joe" could not afford to apprise the woman of her sex, and consequently she was directed to sleep all night in a chair. This was all right with "Joe" the first night, and also the second and third nights, but when the fourth evening came she decided she might as well have a comfortable bed, so she took the woman into her confidence.

"Joe's" real name of course, is Josephine. She is 26 years old and is now employed as a domestic in Pittsburgh, and is contented and happy in her new life as a woman. She still wears her wig, but her hair is growing fast, and soon she will be able to appear in her natural way. As a "boy" she was handsome, and as a girl, she is also of good appearance, though her hands are those of a man and the muscles of her arms are like a blacksmith's.

However, she seems to be none the worse for her three years in the mines, and she looks back upon her time spent there as the happiest days of her life. She weighs 155 pounds, and is built like an athlete.

KEPT APPLE FOR 48 YEARS

Stuck Cloves in it, Says a Philadelphia Woman

Philadelphia, Pa.—The record of a York woman in preserving apples for 29 years has been exceeded by Mrs. Ida Cooper of this city.

Mrs. Hewson has an apple that is 48 years old, she says. It was given to her when she was 5 years old by her mother, Mrs. Maggie Glen. It is in a state of splendid preservation, due, it is said to cloves.

Mrs. Cooper explains the curiosity in this way. As a child she was fond of sticking pins in apples. Her mother persuaded her to use cloves, so she began filling this particular apple, she says, with the cloves.

She kept this up until the apple was covered with cloves. Then she put it away, and it has been in the family ever since.

Triplets Added to Fifteen

Gainesville, Texas.—Triplets were born to Mrs. Mae Ellis, a resident of Gainesville for several years. She already was the mother of fifteen children, all living and healthy. The triplets are healthy and will live. The mother is about 49 years old and the father several years older.

Miss Ada Wingert was here from Franklin Grove on business yesterday.

TROUBLE MAKER SURRENDERS JOB

BOSS TAILOR BUYS OFF DISTURBER HE COULDN'T FIRE FOR $125

CLAIMS SHOP WAS DEMORALIZED

Things Demanded Which Astonished Associates and Employer Couldn't Sleep

New York—Abraham Malenki was a shirtwaist maker in the shop of Louis Adler at 1239 Broadway. Malenki, while he worked philosophized on the troublous life of a ladies shirt waist maker, and duly considered the best means whereby a part of the hardship might be transferred to the shoulders of his employer. Today Abraham no longer works; he simply philosophizes and considers how best to spend the $125 which his employer gave him in return for an immediate withdrawal from the shop.

Mr. Adler gave the details of the transaction, in the course of which he paid more than a hundred dollars to get rid of an employee who was doing good work.

"It's worth $3,000 to me," said Mr. Adler, "this realization that no more do I have to come here to my place of business and argue with that Malenki over something he has thought up in the night to bring about the transformation of the entire shop and his continual threats to call in the union over this or that change which he deems best that I make."

It seems that about four years ago Abraham Malenki, who had not long left the village of Zosla, in Portland, applied for work at Adler's. A bright and ingratiating smile proclaimed the energetic workman and had the philosopher. Malenki was employed.

Soon he had mastered the technique of the shop and had joined the union. He was earnest and sincere in his relations with his fellow workers and speedily became shop chairman and head of the Price Committee in Adler's shop. He was active in the drawing up of the protocol between the Manufacturers' Association and the union whereby the right to hire was given to the employer and the right to "fire" was given to the union. Then trouble for Mr. Adler began.

Scenes began to be frequent in his shop, and Abraham Malenki was usually in them on behalf of the workers. He demanded things which astonished his associates, and the way he made these demands aggravated Mr. Adler until he was hardly able to sleep at night.

As was said in the shop yesterday, Malenki became to his employer's mind very like the small boy who makes the paper pellets for his fellows to throw, and does this without getting actually caught and without doing any of the throwing. The shop became demoralized, Mr. Adler said, and he pondered long and deeply on how to get rid of "Malenki the troublemaker," as he called him.

On Tuesday morning the climax came. Clerks from the Manufacturers' Association and the union were present at the shop on a complaint of the union. Malenki, in a burst of oratory, asked the question. Why should not the piece workers be given more pay for time lost in changing thread, when the waist under construction has a blue collar with a white body? Even the most radical laughed at this and Malenki grew dumb at the futility of trying to impress his superhuman thoughts on finite minds.

Mr. Adler stood listening all the while, wondering whether he would ever be freed of Malenki. He also wondered whether he or Malenki would be the first to have to cry quits. Then the unexpected happened.

Shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon the arguments were becoming hot and heavy and Malenki turned to his fellows for an instant and said, feelingly, "I wish I could get out of it all and rest."

Mr. Adler sprang up with a gleam of hope. "How much will you take to quit?" he asked.

"One hundred dollars," replied Malenki, and in less time than it took to speak the words a $100 bill had been handed to him. He demurred a moment as to whether he should not stay the week out, but this indecision was quickly settled by Mr. Adler's paying him a week's salary of $25 to keep away for that week. Then Malenki departed.

"I wouldn't go through such a thing as that again," said Mr. Adler yesterday, "for the whole shop. The next time I get a man like Malenki I am going to give him the place and go to work for him myself."

Boasts of Two Headed Turtle

Mullins, S. C.—Ever see a living animal with two heads? No? Then you should see Eugene Smith's little turtle. It was caught in the Pee-Dee swamps and has two well developed heads, each separate and distinct from the other. Smith declares that the turtle eats with both heads. The turtle is not much larger than a silver dollar and is very active and hearty. Smith is asking $1,000 for it.

KEENAN OFFENSIVE STAR IN BIG GAME

DIXON BOY, CATCHING FOR NOTRE DAME UNIVERSITY, SOMES SLUGGER.

DEFEATED MICHIGAN AGGIES

The following from a Notre Dame paper of April 29 will be of interest to the many Dixon friends of Joe Keenan, who is now catching on the Notre Dame University baseball team, for it shows that Joe is still playing the great ball he used to serve out to the local fans:

"Big George" Murphy got a little the best of Brown of the Michigan Aggies in a pitching duel on Cartier field yesterday afternoon, and Notre Dame, defeated the Lansing organization, 2 to 0, in the fastest game seen on the local field this year.

Keenan Offensive Star.

"Big George" was not only the most important factor in holding the opponents in check but he backed up his little battery mate, Joe Keenan, on the offensive. And Keenan was the offensive star of the day. He little fellow not only caught a splendid game behind the bat, but he scored both of Notre Dame's runs and batted out three hits, one good for two bases.

For four innings the teams battled evenly without either scoring, but Notre Dame broke the ice in the fifth. With one out in this session Keenan rapped out a two bagger along the left field foul line, and he scored a moment later when Murphy's grounded batted out of Fick's arm.

he Hoosiers counted their second tally in the seventh. With one dead again Keenan beat out a hit to first and went to second when Fick's throw went wide of first base. Murphy again delivered, this time rapping out a screeching single to right field, and Keenan scored.

Keenan Misses Plate.

There was a little comedy as Keenan scored the second run. He failed to touch the home plate as he spee'd in and Catcher Fuller of the visitors noticed it. Although Keenan was almost to the bench he saw Fuller start after him. Then he began dodging about and he finally eluded Fuller and slid into the plate, safe.

WHY STATIONERY AND WRITING PAPER COST YOU MORE

Facts and Figures That Prove the Case for An Advance.

A rise in the price of anything always rubs the wrong way. It goes against the grain to be asked to pay more than one has been accustomed to paying, however convincing the reasons may be for a higher price. For this reason some actual facts and figures are here given to prove the case for an advance. A study of these will show that the recent increase in the cost of our goods is not only unavoidable but is hardly sufficient to cover the serious jump in prices we are now forced to pay for our own manufacturing materials. Some of these have reached a prohibitive figure and others are unobtainable.

Many people know that fine writing papers can only be made from rags but few people know that 40 per cent of these rags were formerly imported from Europe, and with this source of supply cut off, the cost of rags has steadily risen until the price is anywhere from 50 to 100 per cent higher than the pre-war figure. Until sources of supply for rags are developed in this country, the prices cannot fall and may still go higher.

"How much will you take to quit?" he asked.

"One hundred dollars," replied Malenki, and in less time than it took to speak the words a $100 bill had been handed to him. He demurred a moment as to whether he should not stay the week out, but this indecision was quickly settled by Mr. Adler's paying him a week's salary of $25 to keep away for that week. Then Malenki departed.

"I wouldn't go through such a thing as that again," said Mr. Adler yesterday, "for the whole shop. The next time I get a man like Malenki I am going to give him the place and go to work for him myself."

Boasts of Two Headed Turtle

Mullins, S. C.—Ever see a living animal with two heads? No? Then you should see Eugene Smith's little turtle. It was caught in the Pee-Dee swamps and has two well developed heads, each separate and distinct from the other. Smith declares that the turtle eats with both heads. The turtle is not much larger than a silver dollar and is very active and hearty. Smith is asking $1,000 for it.

To turn from the great staple to minor but no less essential ingredients in paper making. Bleaching powders before the war cost about 14c a pound. They are now quoted at 15c and are often unobtainable at this figure. Woolen and cotton felts have advanced 10 per cent; soda ash 55 per cent; while rosin has nearly doubled and alum has trebled in price. The most spectacular advance of all has been in the cost of aniline dyes and colors. These before the war cost about 40c a pound. They are now hard to obtain even when $2 a pound is offered, and this price represents a jump of no less than 5000 per cent.

All these figures of course apply to the manufacture of paper stock. Taking them as a whole it is no exaggeration to say that they represent an average all-round advance of 100 per cent in the price of raw materials.

When we turn to materials used in the manufacture of paper products, while the rising costs are not quite so startling they are still serious enough to necessitate repeated adjustments of our price schedules. Gum Arabic, for instance, though the last of products, as one would think, to be affected by war conditions, has steadily risen in price until now we are paying one and one-third times the pre-war figure. Printing inks of all kinds have risen from 25 to 100 per cent; tablet, news and carton boards show similar increases, and even ribbons which in no way can be associated with war and war requisites are costing anywhere from 15 to 20 per cent more than their former price.

To put these facts before you in plain figures they are reduced to the following tables of percentages, the figures in all cases representing the per cent increase over those quoted just before the war began:

Schedule of Advances.
Aniline colors—5000%
Bleaching powders—940%. Now unobtainable.
Casein—400%
Alum—200%
Gum Arabic—133 1-2%
Rags—50 to 100%
Printing inks—25 to 100%
Soda Ash—58%
Bogus paper—44%
Lumber—38%
(For cases and frames)
White border ink—34%
News board—32%
Black border ink—26%
Cartons—15%
Ribbons—15%.

Corn was being received at the local elevators Friday from four different shellers and our streets presented a busy scene as a result of the many farmers in town. Some of the recent shipment graded 5 or 6 and was sold for 17 cents per bushel. Some of the corn which we all wondered what the buyers would do with sold for 59 cents per bushel. Despite the poor crop of last season such prices are a source of much joy to the farmers for they are getting fair sized checks for what they did raise, anyway.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

The Rev. M. B. Krug is in receipt of a letter from the Hon. John C. McKenzie regarding the war situation in our country which will doubtless be of interest to our readers. Such letters as these, coming from our congressmen, make us feel doubly sure that ours is really a country of peace and that there is no immediate danger of the United States being plunged into war. The letter to his Reverence follows:

Washington, D. C.,
May 4, 1916.

Rev. M. B. Krug,
West Brooklyn, Ill.

My Dear Friend:

I received your telegram and was glad to hear from you on the international situation. It seemed like old times to read your name at the bottom of the telegram.

I think you know me pretty well and I am sure you have confidence to believe that I will not do anything to aid our President or anyone else in involving us in a war with the central powers or any other country, unless it becomes a matter of last resort in upholding our rights and national honor.

I do not feel that either has been in danger up to this time, and surely nothing has happened that would justify plunging into war.

Trusting you are prosperous and happy and with kind personal regards, I am,

Your friend,
JOHN C. M'KENZIE.

ROCHELLE.

Rochelle, May 5—Today is circus day. The Coop & Lent 5-ring circus arrived with 19 cars and 300 people Sunday. Two performances are billed at the snow grounds at the east end of 8th avenue. School was adjourned so the children could see the parade at noon. A carnival company arrived from Sterling Sunday evening.

The fourth annual spring concert of the Rochelle high school glee clubs will be given in the Majestic theatre Thursday evening, May 11. Miss Olive Menz, director.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hohenadel announce the birth of a son, May 8.

Mrs. S. W. Weeks, Joyce Weeks, Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Crowell and Bryant Cratty attended the graduating exercises of Augustana hospital in Chicago Friday. Misses May Cratty and Amy Weeks of this city received their diplomas at the exercises, held at Trinity church.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Rutledge and daughter of Chicago spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Longenecker.

Mrs. Susan Cass and daughter Ruth are home from San Antonio, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hayes have been visiting in Chicago.

Rev. W. L. Lewis of the Sycamore Congregational church brought his address on "A Certain Man" home with unusual eloquence before the People's Sunday Evening club at the Presbyterian church for Rev. Lewis had had an experience. Like the certain man in Luke 10:35 who went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and departed, leaving him half dead; the speaker and his companion were left stranded on Lincoln highway near Rochelle when their automobile dropped into a chuck hole and broke a spring.

And by chance as the priest of old a Ford passed by on the other side, and likewise a Cadillac even as the Levite but a certain Samaritan, a young man with a Colé Eight roadster, as he journeyed recognizing the sign of distress had compassion on the tourists, and picked them up and delivered them at their destination.

Commenting on this gracious act Rev. Lewis said, "I don't know whether that young man is married or not, but if he isn't and he will journey to Sycamore the minister will perform the ceremony free."

"If you want to study sin, study a certain man not forgetting yourself. Give to the world God-filled men and you have redeemed the world."

May 6—Robert Hackett was selected to represent the high school in boys' oration and Misses Gertrude Sheadle and Agnes Walker in declamation in the contest with Savanna May 12 at a preliminary contest held in the high school Friday night. Miss Louisa S. May and Lewis A. Mahoney, superintendent of the violin schools, acted as judges. The contest brought out a field of ten contestants.

The Rochelle debaters who will uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a policy which will provide a standing army and a reserve force of one million men," are Herman Wright, Charles Seely and Clarence Talbot, with Lloyd Flanders as alternate. The contest will be held in Rochelle.

The score cards on the Better Baby contest held in connection with the Child Welfare campaign of last week were given out at headquarters by Mrs. Hattie Johnston, chairman of the exhibit committee, Saturday afternoon. The scoring:

Sol Druker, prize boy, age 22 months, weight 24 1/4 pounds, height 24 inches, circumference of head 19 1/4, and of chest 20 inches.

Irmaugard Mahler, prize girl, age 14 months, weight 20 11-16 pounds, height 28 inches, circumference of head and chest, each 18 inches.

The mental and physical development of the children were normal. An examination of the eye, ear, nose and throat showed the children to be free from disease. The judges were Drs.

Kimball of Seward and John of Oregon.

One of the special features of the next Parent-Teacher association to be held on the evening of May 9, will be an address by Prof. H. A. Hollister of the University of Illinois. His subject will be "The Benefits to Be Derived From a Township High School." Prof. Hollister is the high school inspector for the university.

Rev. W. L. Lewis of the Sycamore Congregational church will address the Peoples' Sunday Evening club at the Presbyterian church on "A Certain Man." On May 14, at 4 p. m. Supt. Herman Wimmer will give an address on "Educating the Whole Child," and on May 21 at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Jenkin-Lloyd Jones will give "The Story of the Ford Peace Ship and Its Lessons."

The city has installed a motor at the old well controlled by a switch from the main plant. The water from the old well is a trifle softer than from the well at the main plant. The new arrangement was necessitated by an increase in the use of the city water.

Miss Clara Bauka, a toll operator for the Rock River Telephone Co., is enjoying a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fessler are looking over business interests at Lake Charles, La. Mr. Fessler is having his vacation from his duties as vice president of the Peoples' bank. W. H. Hines is assisting at the bank in the absence of Mr. Fessler and Miss Margaret Gleason, who is receiving treatment at the hospital.

Miss Emma V. Countryman and nephew, Alvin Countryman, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Austen at Rockford.

PROGRESS TOWARD BAGDAD

Petrograd Reports Russians Drowning Nearer to Mesopotamian Plain.

Petrograd, May 9.—According to recent news from the Russian expedition aiming at Bagdad, the Russians, after being held for some time, have again scored a success against the Turks defending the mountain paths between Kerind and Hanikin, and, having occupied Serinal-Kerind, are drawing nearer the Mesopotamian frontier.

The attainment of Hanikin, it has been pointed out by military authorities here, would give the Russians access to the rear of the Turkish Bagdad army, the expected plan being for Russia to strike north of Bagdad in an effort to cut the railway and sever the only important line of communication over which the Turkish army in the Bagdad region is being supplied.

Mrs. Fred Hemmens went to Iowa Saturday on a visit.

WILD GOOSE CHASE LEADS INTO COURT

When Is Bird Wild and When Domesticated?

Canton, Ill., May 9.—Several perplexing legal questions have arisen over the killing of a goose some time ago by J. W. Griggs of Norris. Not long ago Mr. Griggs saw a flock of geese above him and, singling out one, brought it to earth. Game Warden Rodney C. Turner arrested Griggs on a charge of killing a goose out of season. Griggs pleaded guilty. A few days later a neighbor appeared at the Griggs home and proved to the satisfaction of Griggs that he had killed one of the neighbor's domesticated fowls and demanded pay for the goose. The neighbor had captured a wild gander several years ago, of which the victim of Griggs' rifle was alleged to be a descendant, three or four generations removed. The wild gander had subsequently become domesticated, it was said.

HONOR PLAN AT NEW PRISON

Men Engaged in Construction Work Will Be Trusted.

Springfield, Ill., May 9.—Governor Dunne told Warden Michael Zimmer of Joliet prison to use his own judgment in regard to the honor system to be followed during the building of the new prison, when Mr. Zimmer called on the executive at Springfield.

Commissioner William Ryan, Jr., was with him. Prison labor will be used in constructing the institution and it was a question with the warden as to how far he should go in trusting prisoners. He will follow the system now in use.

Taylorville to Get New Station.

Taylorville, Ill., May 9.—Construction of a $25,000 Wabash and Chicago & Illinois Midland's union station, modeled after the Wabash station at Litchfield, was announced by Mayor Scott following a conference here between Superintendent J. WILSON'S NOTE WARNS KAISER Break Is Promised if Germans Fail to Keep Compact.

TEUTONIC CRISIS IS REVIVED

President Puts "Absolute Responsibility" for a Break Up to Imperial Government—Accepts Pledge of Lawful Subsea Warfare, but Rejects Condition of Making Britain Obey Sea Laws.

Washington, May 9.—President Wilson in a formal note dispatched to Berlin has accepted as meeting his demand the announced change in Germany's submarine policy.

Coupled with this acceptance is a veiled threat that diplomatic relations will be severed unless the new orders issued by the German admiralty are scrupulously observed.

Spurns German Plan.

The president further notifies Germany that this government will not for a moment entertain, much less discuss, the suggestion that respect by German naval authorities for American rights upon the high seas should "in any way or in the slightest degree" be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants.

The president's reply absolutely commits the United States to a rupture of diplomatic relations should German commanders exceed the limitations of the recognized rules of international law admitted and declared by their government.

The Note.

Following is the text of the note cabled by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the imperial government as to the future that it is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the government of the United States has insisted.

Accepts Proposal as Absolute.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on Feb. 4, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical question arising from that policy. Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous execution henceforth of the now altered policy of the imperial government such as will remove the principal danger to any interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany.

"The government of the United States feels it necessary to state that it takes it for granted that imperial German government does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course or result of diplomatic negotiations between the government of the United States and any other belligerent government, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's note of the 4th instant might appear to be susceptible of that construction.

Can't Discuss British Relations.

"In order, however, to avoid any possible misunderstanding the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect by German naval authorities for the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint; absolute, not relative."

HE SPENDS A FORTUNE EDUCATING 18 OTHERS
School Teacher's Kindness Sends Seventeen Boys and One Girl Thru Universities
Everett, Wash.—F. D. Mack, teacher in the Central School has spent about $40,000 in educating eighteen students—seventeen boys and one girl—in the past sixteen years.
Living on his school salary in a modest way, both in Minnesota, his former home, and in Washington, he has earned the money to send students thru universities by writing short stories and magazine articles. He has paid out between $2,000 and $3,000 on each of his "children."
Some of the youngsters were orphans and some had one parent, but all were eager to learn and were handicapped by lack of money.
The thirteen boys who are alive are all actively engaged in the business professions to which Mack educated them. Two are druggists, one being in St. Paul and the other in Los Angeles. Two are instructors in the University of Minnesota, where they were graduated. One teaches mathematics and the other is an instructor in German.
This latter young man plans to be a physician and last year married a girl who wished to go to Germany to get her master's degree, so he and his bride sailed for Germany to continue their studies, only to be turned back by the prevalence of the war. Mack sent him thru normal school, the University of Minnesota and Harvard,
where he received his master's degree.
A young man who chose to be a broker received his education at the University of Illinois. He started out to be an architect, but changed his mind and took a commercial course.
He was graduated four years ago and is now in Minneapolis engaged in the lumber brokerage business. He is the best money maker of the "family." In his four years out of college he has made $40,000.
A mining engineer who was educated at the University of Minnesota is now working in a mine at Butte, Mont.
A banker received a thoro commercial education and then Mack set him up in business in a bank at Elgin, N. D.
Mack, who reluctantly consented to tell something of his unique generosity says that when any of his boys want to start in business he gives them enough money to begin with. He recently bought an eighty acre farm for one of them.
A dentist lives in Chicago. He had four years at the University of Valparaiso. Mack says this boy married a rich nurse.
One boy who started to be a lawyer lost his health after his education from the University of Minnesota Law School, so that he could not practice, and he now is employed as chief of the Minnesota Fish and Game Commission, with headquarters at St. Paul.

FOR THE CHILDREN
Interesting Sleepy Time Story
From the Land of Fairies.
FABLE OF THE THERMOMETER.
How a Wayward Little Elf Was Put In a Prison and Kept There For the Benefit of Mankind—Things of Interest to Small Folks—Girl Policemen.
Polly Ann and little Ned were looking at the thermometer when just then Uncle Ben came in and told about—
AN ELF FROM FAIRYLAND.
Once there lived in Fairyland a capricious little elf named Quicksilver.
This was not her real name, but was given to her one day by the king of fairies in a fit of anger at her waywardness. Quicksilver was never to be counted on at all. When one thought to find her visiting the Rose Fair, whose home was by the garden wall, she had already left and was flashing here and there like a streak of lightning. She led all of the fairy folk such a dance that they decided to teach her to be more reliable. But she was such a sprightly little thing and looked so pretty in her dainty silver frocks that they hesitated to change her.
One day when the queen had planned some work for Quicksilver and she had slipped away and could not be found the king's patience was exhausted, and he called his counselors to help him devise a punishment. They decided to build a little glass house for her without doors, through which she might attempt to escape, and to place a little ladder at the rear so that she might climb up and look out upon the scenes of her former naughtiness.
They had difficulty in catching her,
but at last she was placed in her new domicile and forced to remain there forever. In the summer, when her friends the flowers, bees and butterflies were about, Quicksilver climbed high up on her little ladder to look at her former comrades with longing eyes. In the winter, however, when these sought shelter from Jack Frost and were nowhere to be seen, she felt sad and lonely and slipped down into her little room and would not allow herself to be seen but for an occasional peep when the day was warmer. Then she climbed in the hope of seeing one of her dear ones.
One day a wise mortal noticed Quick-silver and studied her habits. He determined to make her useful in the world by teaching them to other men.
To this day we look at her as she sits in her little glass house, and when one asks mother, "Shall I put on my warm coat today?" she answers, "Go and see what the thermometer is doing."

How Silver Bow Creek Was Named.
Silver Bow creek received its name from a party of prospectors who reached its valley in the vicinity of Butte in 1864. While discussing the best name for the stream the clouds broke away, and the sunshine falling on the creek
as it circled around the mountain suggested the name Silver Bow, and was accordingly so called.—United

NORTH DIXON COAL YARDS

SERIES No. 116
The first person to take shares in this new series was a man from Minnesota and he took 22 of them. Next came a Chicago man; he subscribed for 100. Next came a Dixon man, who took 25. Then came another Dixon man and he took 100.
Still they come, every day.
Costs nothing to join.
All the money back at any time, plus our liberal interest rate.
Now, the question is,
HOW MANY SHARES DO
YOU WANT?
